This study aims to analyze the Pakistan's Constitutional Laws on .Q: My computer is slow over a network connection I have a laptop that connects to my office LAN via VPN. It always gets painfully slow on VPN (it's much slower than other computers that are not connected to VPN at all). I have it connected via Ethernet, with a cable from a LAN port, to an Ethernet hub. Does anyone know a way to tweak it so that it will only be a regular DSL connection when connected to VPN? A: If you know exactly what connection type is used (DSL, cable, etc.) you can try to limit the maximum link speed (in Mbits/sec) to the absolute minimum speed used in the connection. If that does not make a difference, but only a software update of the VMWare software does help, you can try
