Music in our game is created for ambient relax and sleep and nothing else. Note that all songs are property of their authors and the game has no ties with the artists. Reviews "A novel inspired game that reminds you of the classic series." (Andriyy, IndieRPGBlog) "A simple idea and execution, which makes up for it, but also provides a lot of enjoyment for the player." (Shiratama) "The game is well made. Do not miss this little gem." (AkaNEX) "Innovative and rather charming adventure." (Hallowed Blade) "A well written adventure that never loses the feel of a game." (LadyDance) "A very entertaining and original adventure game." (Figment) "I liked it a lot. The atmosphere, the atmosphere, the atmosphere. Really very pleasant." (xXJoeDevXx) "It's a good Halloween surprise for those who didn't know it." (UngodShocker) Gerald Peralta woke up in the hospital. Tired, sore everywhere, as though he had been sleeping rough for a few days. What happened? He doesn't remember anything at all. He kept it all to himself and let the doctors tell him what was the matter. They say he is suffering from a head injury, nothing more. When Gerald, a regular guy just going through the normal things in life, encounters some new and disturbing things, his life begins to drastically change. As if some strange fates began to take control of his life. The nightmares become clearer and more frequent, the objects around him change their nature and the messages he receives from the paranormal become more and more demanding. He must find out what happened to him and why the world is such a strange place around him. Halloween is just around the corner and there is still work to be done. Gerald has to find the Halloween spirit lurking within his subconscious mind, get out from there and defeat the horrific entities looking to take over the world. Will Gerald be able to do it in time? Will his sanity survive the terrifying encounters? Find out...

(novel) My Big Sister Soundtrack (simplified Chinese: 螞蚱在烈日下; pinyin: Rètiáng Zìjǐ Kòu de Láiwùxù Jīn Lù; literally: Grasshopper under the blazing sun [Portuguese] White [Red]) is a novel by Lu Xun. It was published in 1927 in Brussels. As a followup to his 1926 novel The True History of the Latest Humiliation Experienced by the Imperial Clan, My Big Sister Soundtrack surpassed it as the best-selling and most controversial novel of 1926-27. Liu Haisu, Mabel Loomis Todd and the Ford Motor Company helped fund the publication of this novel (which made Liu an independent literary figure), as well as a younger associate of Liu, Shi Bingxun. Overview First chapter

The novel begins with the dry and mournful opening chapter: 1928 electronic version The original chapter ending differs from the one rendered here. Yu ( ) is the protagonist while Liu ( ) is his life-long companion. She is a high-school student spending the summer with her god-sister ( ), who has been to Europe with her school. While Liu has no relatives in the country, her family has a nearby farm where she spends several days each month. One night, she goes to the farm in Liu's family's automobile, a Peugeot. The Peugeot panics in the middle of the road, and a siren for a fire engine's horn blows. As she talks to the other passengers, a brickbat thrown by a child runs over a spark, igniting the gas. The gas tanks burst into flames. (Sb: Liu Haisu's Shanghai Novels) Driving home, she steps on the accelerator, and the car rushes out. Liu is determined to save her. They reach the river that carries water. The water is rushing downhill, so only the front passenger's seat is occupied by the driver, Liu, and his wife. They both are not injured. The following morning, the woman and her companion go to a ferry and cross the river in danger of life. As they are climbing off, the island keeps producing an electric surge in the water. But Liu can move the Puppy Doge VR is a comedy game that offers simple interactions with a cute puppy. Choose from 3 different puppies: Egg, Dino, and Kitten. Included in the 'Doggy Bag' is food for the puppy to eat (shh, don't feed the puppy!) and a toy for the puppy to play with. Feed a puppy by simply touching their fur. You can also use the motion controllers in order to pet and feed a puppy. Use the motion controllers to give the puppy a treat. You can also play fetch by shaking the motion controllers. When you're done playing around, simply tap the front touchpad to make the puppy go away. Experience the "Doge Mode" where you turn your Android phone into a puppy, and interact with the world around you. FEATURES: PET DOGS: Choose from 3 different puppies that react to you differently FEED/PLAY FETCH: Feed or play fetch with your puppy, by shaking the Motion Controllers TREAT/DOG TYPES: Earn different types of treats by playing with the puppy POSITIVE INCLUSIVE WORLD: VR game focuses on light-hearted interactions with cute puppies that happens in every day life. My name is Klenken and I'm a Hyperkinetic Puppy. My hyperkinesia conditions prevent me from walking in a straight line, and I love to play fetch. I especially love fetch in level five of the Tilt Brush or in the Dogevr game. I love fetching and I'm grateful that Hyperkinetic Puppy has given me the ability to walk again. The jury is still out as to whether Hyperkinetic Puppy has made a significant improvement over the very first prototype of Puppy Doge. However, one thing's for sure - Hyperkinetic Puppy has demonstrated the awesome potential that separates virtual reality from simulators and has proved that virtual reality can be brought to life with a simple concept. In Puppy Doge, Hyperkinetic Puppy plays fetch in the virtual world alongside a virtual dog who can walk, turn, and even sit! The two also interact by petting each other. It's a virtual dog, but it's also your virtual dog and you can play fetch with your dog here in Tilt Brush or Puppy Doge. Hyperkinetic Puppy doesn't just make fetch games. It has the potential to redefine the way
