which android devices can be used as a development target for windows phone development? as stated in the title, i want to know which android devices are compatible with the development of windows phone apps. is there an app for windows phone that i can use to test the app on my phone, or is there another way to do it? a: i think you have to test on your own device. you

can use android
emulator to do it, but it is not a real device.
