Ronald Barrett is an independent consultant, trainer, author and tech speaker whose previous clients include Goldman Sachs, Microsoft, New Horizons and ONLC.com. Barrett has co-authored several books, including Administrator's Guide to Microsoft Office 2007 Servers and contributes regularly to Redmond magazine. The first service pack for Windows 7 and Windows Server 2008 R2 has been finalized and released to manufacturing (RTM), where the Windows Server 2008 R2 SP1 RTM update package has been leaked for download. As per tradition, Microsoft has also released Windows Server 2008 R2 with SP1 integrated ISO image for OEM partners, MSDN and TechNet subscribers and other advanced users who need not want to install SP1 update separately after installing Windows Server 2008 R2. And again, the original official untouched ISO image of Windows Server 2008 R2 with SP1 (Service Pack 1) has been leaked to BitTorrent (BT) network and file sharing sites well ahead of official release. Heres download links for various editions of Windows Server 2008 R2 with SP1 integrated (build version 6.1.7601.17154) in ISO image format. The ISO image is untouched, unmodified and unpatched, and can be burnt to DVD or mount onto virtual DVD drive for easy access. With Service Pack 1, Microsoft tackles several important areas of updating Windows Server 2008 R2 (in this case, the only supported versions of Windows Server 2008 R2 SP1 are Windows Server 2008 R2 SP1 Basic Edition, Windows Server 2008 R2 SP1 Enterprise Edition, and Windows Server 2008 R2 Enterprise Evaluation Edition).
