So you are still looking for a Dungeon Master's Guide for your 5th Edition game? We hope that this list of the best PDF version of Dungeon Masters Guide of all five editions will satisfy you. For the lowest priced and best quality, the free ePub is our recommended version. Each character is the equivalent of a person in our groups and this particular one is exploring dungeons for treasure. His stats are normal, he has a Strength of 20, a Dexterity of 15, a Wisdom of 13, and an Charisma of 17. He has a usual complement of equipment at his disposal, plus his choice of a weapon and a shield to be used in the coming adventure. The Dungeon Master has compiled a very versatile roll of the dice, because he has a wizard available to cast spells. The Wizard can cast the spell "Save or Surrender". The usual spell DC for this is based on the character's level and the class levels of the caster. We start with the wizard level being 3 and we add the levels of 5 and the proficiency bonus for whatever class the wizard has. So if we have a level 9 wizard with a proficiency of +3 and a +1 bonus for the class of cleric, we will use the following DC: If the character fails by 5 or more then he surrenders. The wizard was very excited about having the spell for this adventure, but unfortunately it had not been his choice. It was a spell from one of his most feared enemies, who was a wizard of level 3. If the character fails by 5 or more then he surrenders. The wizard was very excited about having the spell for this adventure, but unfortunately it had not been his choice. It was a spell from one of his most feared enemies, who was a wizard of level 3. He was afraid that he would have to stand on the defensive against the three evil forces of the dungeon.
